S.C. Short Gave Stirring Address At Remembrance Day Service; Large Gathering In Attendance

Veterans, Young Army Cadets, Pipe Band In Parade Led By R. C. M. P.; Flags of Allied Nations Held Proudly Aloft.

Remembrance Day service on Monday morning was favored by brilliant sunshine and many citizens were present on the street awaiting the parade sponsored by Coleman branch of the Canadian Legion.

At approximately 9:45 a.m. the veterans of War I and War II along with the local army cadets, Coleman pipe band and RCMP Constable William Shields gathered at the Legion club and with pipes skirling and the flags of many Allied Nations proudly held aloft the parade started and wound its way along first and second streets being led by Constable Shields in his scarlet tunic.

At 10 a.m. the Community hall was filled almost to capacity. On the stage were chairman, J. J. McIntyre, Rev. Dr. Magowan, Capt. F. Smith, S. C. Short and the United church choir with Joe Emmerson, pianist. A huge Union Jack adorned the curtain at the back of the stage. In front of the stage was the honor roll of War I flanked by four bouquets of flowers.

In his remarks Chairman J. J. McIntyre stated that Remembrance Day has taken on new significance since the close of the last war, as we are now commemorating particularly those in the community who had failed to return. He paid tribute to their memories and grieved with their loved ones they had left behind.

It is twelve years since he came to Coleman and many who had taken part in the services of that time had now passed to the Great Beyond. He spoke of the Rev. W. E. Brown who had taken part in last year's service and who had left the community for the States. He paid tribute to the memory of the late Rev. George Kettlys who had taken part in last year's service despite the fact he had been very ill at the time. He asked his audience to keep in mind the name of Rev. Kettlys in their remembrance.

The prayer was given by Capt. Smith followed by the hymn "Rock of Ages." Rev. Dr. Magowan read the Scriptures followed by the hymn "Abide With Me."

S. C. Short delivered the principal address and before launching into his address paid tribute to the young Army Cadets who were present in their new smart appearing uniforms for the first time. It was his opinion that the nation had nothing to fear in the future with so many young stalwart Canadians to guard her independence.

"I am inclined to think you will agree with me, that my salutation could and should be reversed on this occasion, that I should place comrades first, and particularly those who have returned from the war just passed, for assuredly they are the ones, amongst those of us here present, who are most honored this morning."

It is most gratifying to see so many of our young veterans here this morning, ready to join their voices with those older veterans, and with the community at large in paying homage to those who have given their lives in the service of their country. It is noteworthy too, that it has been principally the younger veterans who have taken the leadership in organizing the campaign for the memorial park fund, and this is quite fitting, for who, more than they, have a better appreciation of the nature of the sacrifice made by their absent comrades, or a better knowledge of the manner in which they died. It is the returned warrior who has seen many of his comrades fall, the returned veteran who sometimes feels that he knows more dead men than live ones, who has the greatest appreciation of the memory of this day of remembrance.

To them it is a day, both of joy and of sorrow.

On the long journey, from the first days when they donned the King's uniform—through the arduous days of training—the long wait until the command for action was given—and then the great test—to come into grips with the enemy—the ordeal of battle—death a release—a wound, release and Blighty, sometimes a release more bitter than death—a continuance of health and physical strength was but a continuance of hell. The excitement and wild exaltation of battle short lived against the modern weapons of war. And then victory. Surely to those men it must be a day of both joy and sorrow, joy and sorrow at once—this may sound like a contradiction, but a soldier can experience it.

Our hearts go out most this morning to those parents, those wives and sweethearts who have given their most precious possession in this great fight for survival, in both the first and second great wars. We feel their sorrow and great loss keenly this morning

STEAL PIPE FROM GRAVE

Some person, at present unknown, has been guilty of a foul deed.

He has gone to the Union cemetery and there, with a wrench, unscrewed a pipe off the rail fence on the Albert Bowling grave. The damage was discovered by Councilor Fred Cox, sponsor of the beautification of local cemeteries program, on Sunday last. Bob Mitchell, caretaker, believes the theft was made some time ago judging from the rusty condition of the elbows from which the pipe had been unscrewed.

A concerted effort will be made to find the guilty party and, to use councilor Cox's own words, "he will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

May Stop Sunday Milk Deliveries

Lethbridge Unable to Guarantee A Steady Supply of Milk To Pass; Council to Discuss Subject At Next Tuesday's Meeting.

There is a possibility that Sunday milk delivery during the winter months may be stopped. The Journal was informed of this fact during the week when making enquiry into the non-delivery of milk last Monday and which caught practically everyone unaware.

According to Mr. Joe Fauville, manager of Pass Dairy, the milk supply in the Pass is critical. Four consecutive days last week the Pass Dairy was unable to secure its normal milk purchases from Lethbridge with the result that on Monday there were approximately 48 quarts of milk with which to service the Pass.

Lethbridge distributors cannot guarantee a steady flow of milk to the Pass as the Lethbridge area's milk consumption is steadily increasing despite increased production.

The Pass producers are only able to produce sufficient milk to meet Pass consumption in only two months of the year and this in the summer months.

Mr. Fauville stated to The Journal that one solution to the problem is to eliminate Sunday deliveries. This will assure milk deliveries the other six days of the week. Should opposition be raised against the Sunday non-delivery it would mean that milk might be in short supply on any day of the week, and consumers would be caught short as no means of notifying them of non-delivery on that particular day would be available. In winter, said Mr. Fauville, consumers are better able to keep milk for longer periods than during the summer months.

Coleman town council who protested against the elimination of Sunday milk deliveries when it was last sought by the Pass Dairy have been informally approached on the subject and have asked a member of the Pass Dairy or a letter outlining the facts be present at next Tuesday's regular meeting when they will discuss the matter.

The educational and wild life films are said to be well worth seeing and Forest Ranger Boulton extends a hearty welcome to Coleman citizens to make a point to be in the Community hall on Saturday morning.

The films are sponsored by the Alberta Forest Service, Dept. of Lands and Mines, in co-operation with the Canadian Forestry Association.

Board of Public Utility Commissioners Authorize Milk Boost of One Cent Per Quart in Pass Area

Boost Effective Friday, November 15; History of Conditions Pertaining To Milk Production Traced Back Several Years.

Following is the complete report on the enquiry into milk prices and distribution in the Crows' Nest Pass, held at Blairmore on October 22:

Board of Public Utility Commissioners

In the matter of "The Public Utilities Act," and in the matter of an application by producers in the Crows' Nest Pass controlled area for an increase in the price of liquid milk.

This is an application to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners by the milk producers in the Crows' Nest Pass controlled area for an increase in the price to be paid to them for milk sold in the said area for consumption in liquid form. Petitions were also received by the Board from consumers in the area protesting against any increase in cost of milk to consumers. The application was heard in Blairmore on the 22nd day of October, 1946, pursuant to notices of the hearing given by publication in newspapers of general circulation in the Crows' Nest Pass area and pursuant to individual notices sent to municipal authorities, milk distributors and to all social agencies of which the Board has knowledge. This notice stated that the Board would enquire into matters relevant to the distribution and price of milk in the area.

At the hearing, the milk producers were represented by T. J. Costigan, the town of Blairmore by Mayor E. Williams. Many consumers and other interested persons also appeared. The distributor in the area, Pass Dairy Limited, did not appear or make any representations in respect to the matter in issue.

The supply and distribution of milk in this area has been a difficult problem for many years, and its history is a story of inefficient production in the area to meet the demand coupled with production and distribution methods which do not seem to come up to the standard of those existing in other parts of the Province. In an attempt to improve the situation, control of the industry was instituted under The Public Utilities Act in February, 1940, and a retail price of 11 cents per quart and a price to the producers of $2.25 per 100 pounds was fixed. This was based upon the evidence of producers that the cost of production per 100 pounds of milk ranged from $1.90 to $2.08. In January, 1942, an application was made by producers for an increase in price and while the Board considered the evidence produced warranted an increase, such increase was not then ordered because of a Federal producers' subsidy of 30 cents per 100 pounds which then came into effect. This subsidy was discontinued on the 30th of April, 1942, and the Board accordingly then increased the retail price to 12 cents per quart and the producers price to $2.63 per 100 pounds. This made prices in this area both to the consumer and producer the same as those existing in other controlled areas in the Province. In September, 1942, the producers' subsidy was re-instituted by the Federal authorities and from that time on until September, 1945, such subsidies were paid in sums varying from 35 cents to 55 cents per 100 pounds. While a subsidy of 55 cents was being paid in September, 1945, the average yearly subsidy for the years 1944 and 1945 was 47 cents per 100 pounds. Notwithstanding these subsidies, a further application for an increase in retail and producers prices was made to the Board in May, 1945, and at that time the retail price was increased to 14 cents per quart and the producer's price to $3.02 per 100 pounds. The evidence produced at the hearing confirmed by the results of an independent investigation by a chartered accountant, indicated that the sole distributor, Pass Dairy Limited, could not carry on with the spread theretofore allowed it and the Board accordingly for the reasons cited, decided to increase in its decision of the 6th of June, 1945, allowed the said distributors an additional spread of 1 cent per quart out of the increase of 2 cents per quart in the retail price then made. At the time of this decision producers were receiving a Federal subsidy of 35 cents per 100 pounds during the months of May to September inclusive, and 55 cents per 100 pounds in the months of October to April inclusive, or an average yearly subsidy of 47 cents. While no increase in the producers' price had at this time been allowed by the Board in any other controlled area in the Province, the Board then awarded an increase to the producer of 30 cents per 100 pounds upon their statement that an attempt would be made to improve the situation of short supply by increased production.

At the present hearing, evidence was given on behalf of the producers by Peter DeGroot and William Oliver, both of whom produce milk in the area, and ship to Pass Dairy Limited, the sole distributor. Peter DeGroot produced a statement of his income and expenses for the period from the 1st of May, 1945, to the 30th of April, 1946, disclosing a total revenue from 158,000 pounds of $5,907.25, this included subsidies received. This discloses a price received of $3.25 per 100 pounds at a cost of production not including depreciation or wages for the producer or his family of $2.40 per 100 pounds. If the producer is allowed wages at current prices for labour, his cost of production would be $2.83 per 100 pounds. This farmer is producing 5 to 6 hundred pounds per day from a herd of 42 cows of which 27 are actually in production. He stated that while he has some pasture he feeds his herd for the entire year. Hay and grain feed were purchased in the Pincher Creek area at a laid down cost at the dairy premises of about 19 to 20 dollars per ton. Comparison of this financial statement with that presented by this witness at the hearing in June, 1945, discloses that his receipts and expenditures for the two periods are approximately equal.

William Oliver, who is by far the largest producer in the district keeps his dairy herd near the Town of Blairmore and raises his hay and feed on his ranch at Lundbreck some 40 miles away. He has a herd of 147 of which about 100 are in production. He furnished a statement of his income and expenses for the period of October 1st, 1945, to September 30th, 1946, disclosing a total revenue of $17,295.63, including subsidies from 503,000 pounds of milk produced. Expenses, not including depreciation or wages for himself and family, were $16,775.59. These expenses include hay

Says Canada's Top Population 50,000,000

University Professor Notes Peace River Possibilities

MONTREAL.—Today all but about 800,000 of Canada's 3,500,000 square miles are "empty" and could support a gradual increase of population up to 50,000,000, Prof. Gilbert Taylor, head of the geography department of the University of Toronto, told the Montreal Geographical Association at a dinner in the Faculty Club.

In his address on "Geography and Nation Planning," which was illustrated by slides, Professor Taylor pointed out that the two most promising regions for settlement in Canada are the Mackenzie-Slave-Peace river area and a rather narrow fringe bordering the St. Lawrence. The speaker was introduced by Prof. George H. T. Kimble, of McGill, who as president of the association, outlined its next year's program.

Professor Taylor said that the St. Lawrence is already fairly well occupied in regard to agriculture and during the past 40 years there has been a gradual migration towards the Peace River. In country somewhat similar to this "Mackenzie triangle," he noted that the Russians in Siberia plan to settle many of the 30,000,000 they expect before the end of the century.

Because it is hard to place even a few thousand immigrants easily and because there is no obvious need to fill the empty Canadian north, Professor Taylor thought that Canadian authorities are wise to discount settlement possibilities there. He reminded his audience that these Arctic lands lie on the air route from the Pittsburgh factories to the teeming millions of the southeast of Asia.

WHERE THE TROUBLE LIES

Malcolm W. Bingay says in the Detroit Free Press the trouble with our thought processes is that we think of the hour instead of the year; of the year instead of the generation. We consider the wave and not the ocean. Thus it is that we blame everything on the last war. We even blame the present vogue of making insanity the topic of new books, plays and movies. We are so completely immersed in insanity that there should be a movement started to build an asylum for the sane.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

IMPROVED FOOD HABITS NEEDED

Sufficient quantities of different foods are available in Canada to provide every Canadian with nutrients needed for health. Dr. E. W. McHenry of the University of Toronto said in an address at a nutrition meeting sponsored by the Health League of Canada here. He added, however, that there is evidence that the food habits of many Canadians need to be improved and that the available foods are not being properly used.

"The two main causes for malnutrition in Canada are ignorance and indifference," said Dr. McHenry who is Professor of Public Health Nutrition at the university's School of Hygiene. "These two causes can be most effectively wiped out by the adequate training of children in healthful living."

He said food habits are formed in childhood and persist through life with little change in most people. Firmly entrenched habits were difficult to change and it was difficult to arouse people sufficiently to cause them to change.

"Our main hope of improving nutritional conditions in proper training of children with regard to food habits and other aspects of health," Dr. McHenry said. "We need to instill in children a liking for the foods which are good for them and to cause that liking to be entrenched as a habit."

He said, however, that nutritional conditions in Canada are sufficiently good that only one deficiency disease, scurvy, occurs with any frequency among adults. Two deficiency conditions, rickets and scurvy, are occasionally found in babies.

In regard to goitre—caused by lack of iodine—he pointed out that iodized salt is the most practical method of obtaining iodine. As for overweight, Dr. McHenry said he includes obesity under malnutrition.

Premier Attlee Refuses Name For War

But Thinks "Second World War" Will Be Adopted

LONDON.—Britain does not intend to give an official name for the 1939-1945 war, Premier Clement Attlee told the House of Commons.

He said, "on the whole, I think the 'Second World War' is likely to be generally adopted."

Labourite M.P. Thomas Cecil Skelington-Lodge asked, "Are you aware that use of the term 'Second World War' pre-supposes that there might be another, and would it not be better to take a risk and call it the last world war?"

Attlee replied amid laughter, "So far as I know, there was a first and second Punic War but not a third."

Familiar Red Barn

Indications Are That It Has Passed Its Heyday

There are indications that the familiar big red barns on farms have already passed the heyday of their usefulness.

Aluminum, steel and fireproof plywood and other wood products will soon be available. Field baling of hay has increased greatly and requires only a small fraction of the space for storage; and more farmers are putting up green glass as silage instead of curing it for hay. Glass-lined silos are being tested. Insulation will be used to increase protection of dairy and poultry products in the cold months. Farmers are evolving keen interest in one-story fireproof barns divided into sections. Some experts estimate that farm construction may total $2,000,000,000 a year for the next ten years. Farmers have a backlog of savings and are interested in new buildings. When production catches up with demand, in the not distant future, efficiency will be the keynote to profits. It looks as if the old red barn will give way to modern engineering.—The New York Times.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Come And See Me

By C. F. CLARKSON

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

LINDA fumbled in her purse as she walked along Boylston Street, pulled out a letter and compared the address with a building number. She didn't need to read the message again. "When you're in Boston about those dress designs, be sure to come and see me. I've a little office in the Castle Building. I'll be very disappointed."

"Why shouldn't I see him?" she thought stubbornly. It had seemed reasonable enough before she left Chicago, but now doubts twisted in her mind. Harry had been very attentive when they met on the riding trail at that mountain resort. That she was a successful business woman, widowed more than ten years and with a son almost through high school, hadn't mattered then.

But holiday friendships fade rapidly, she reflected. And except that he'd once been married, she really knew little about him. His letters had been cordial, in an off-hand man-like way. "I know you won't disappoint me—we've a lot to talk over." She shook her head as if clearing away misgivings, boldly passed through the entrance and stepped in an elevator.

When Linda walked through the door marked "H. W. Shore, Publicity Counselor," she wasn't prepared for the slim, dark-haired girl who smiled in inquiry. It hadn't occurred to her that Harry might have employees.

"Mr. Shore? I'm sorry, he's out just now. Won't you sit down?"

Linda slid into a chair, and tried to appear composed. She thought, "What a fool I am. Why should Harry be interested in me? He must know dozens of girls like this one. How pretty she is! I know I'm not bad looking, but she must have at least fifteen years' advantage."

"Is there something I can do?" the girl said, adding confidently, "I handle a great deal of Mr. Shore's work."

Linda started to rise. "No-oh, no thanks. It doesn't matter." She saw the shadow of uncertainty in the girl's eyes, and explained, "It's just a personal call. I'm Mrs. Vale, from Chicago. Please tell Mr. Shore I'm sorry I missed seeing him."

The girl was on her feet now. "Mrs. Vale? Why, of course! He's spoken of you often. I'm Peggy. I don't doubt he's told you lots about me."

Linda kept silent, distrustful of her voice. The girl continued, "Let's go inside. The chairs are much more comfortable."

Linda hadn't expected the magnificence of the private office. The great mahogany desk; wide windows with a magnificent harbour view. Deep leather chairs. She thought of Harry as struggling to make a go of some small business. If she pictured him as a busy, successful executive, she'd certainly never had the effrontery to think he might—then she looked on the desk and saw the photograph.

She wasn't really surprised. She wasn't shocked. That was over now. "I'm a grown woman," she thought. "I can control my emotions."

"Mrs. Vale? Why, of course! He's spoken of you often. I'm Peggy. I don't doubt he's told you lots about me."

"There was a little blush in the girl's cheeks. "No more than I think of him. I think he's wonderful. I hope you do too."

Linda thought desperately. I must get out of here. I can't stand much more. To the girl she answered mechanically, "Indeed I do. But really, I must be going. Please give Mr. Shore my regards."

"Oh, no, please, Mrs. Vale. Let's have lunch together. I know a quiet little place where we can just talk and talk. I can't let you just run off like that. He's been looking forward to seeing you again."

"I'm so sorry," she mumbled. "Really impossible... previous engagement. I must go."

"Well, if you must. I'm sorry. Where are you staying, Mrs. Vale?"

"The Ritz? Fine. I know he'll call you as soon as he comes in. Good bye, Mrs. Vale. I hope to see you soon."

Linda stumbled down the corridor, thoughts tumbling around in her mind. I can't talk to Harry! That will only make it worse. He'll see what a fool I've been. I must leave—to some other hotel. I must tell that girl not to have him phone—I'll say I'm leaving town.

She turned and retraced her steps. At the office door she hesitated indefinitely, finally screwed up her courage and pushed through.

The girl was not in sight. No sound came from the private office. She stepped out for a moment. Linda thought, I'll just wait. I've got to! Harry mustn't phone!

Her eyes rambled around the reception room taking in details she hadn't seen before. By the window was a small desk with a typewriter. A little slip of paper was stuck in the machine.

Her eyes refused to leave the paper. That's it! she thought. She's leaving him a note about my visit. Involuntarily she moved toward the window and leaned over the machine. I mustn't do that! she thought. One doesn't read personal notes. I must wait!

The few seconds she'd been standing there seemed like minutes—hours. Where was that girl? Her sense of propriety, her will-power, left her with a rush, she leaned over the paper, avidly reading the words.

"Daddy—the big moment you've been waiting for is here. Mrs. Vale is at the Ritz. Be sure to call her immediately. She's just as beautiful as you say."

Accident Of History

Brought Alaska Under American Control Nearly 80 Years Ago

History has many "ifs." And they are the ground for much intricate speculation. Some of these "ifs" are classic. What, for instance, would have happened had Cleopatra's nose been longer than it was? Or what would have happened if Marshal Blucher had been unable to reach the field of Waterloo?

But there are "ifs" that bear upon the future rather than upon the past. Such, for instance, is the "if" concerning Alaska. For what would our experts in the military defence of the Western Hemisphere be thinking if Russia had retained its possession of Alaska?

Alaska has come into the news recently when its citizens voted two to one to have their territory made a state of the American union. But it was little more than one of the accidents of history that brought even Alaska in the first place under American control.

Upon this vast northern area the Russians had established a primary claim. It was discovered by Russian Cosacs, who are believed to have reached the Alaskan coast about the last quarter of the 16th century. Further Russian exploration and some degree of Russian settlement followed. But the strategic importance of Alaska seems to have wholly eluded the attention or the interests of the Czars. To the Czars it was nothing more and nothing less than a source of furs.

Negotiations for the disposal of Alaska by sale to the United States were begun as early as 1856. Finally, in 1867—which was, incidentally, the year of the Confederation of Canada—William H. Steward, the U.S. Secretary of State, negotiated the treaty by which the United States acquired this vast area for the sum of $7,200,000 in gold.

The sum now seems insignificant. But at the time of the purchase many American citizens considered Alaska to be only a remote and useless mass of rock, ice and snow. Alaska to them was "Steward's Folly."

But Steward's folly is now Steward's prudence. Some American military specialists have cast anxious eyes toward the great northlands. Certainly there would be grounds for some uneasy ponderings if the Soviet Union now held this immense bridgehead into the Western Hemisphere.

ONE SURE WAY

Two men were discussing motoring as they sat in the club. "I was once buying a used car from a garage owner," said one. "Of course, he praised it, and since I was a novice, I knew nothing about it, but I found a way of discovering all its defects."

"That sounds incredible," said the other.

"Well," continued the first man, "this is how I did it. I took the car out on trial and drove it to another dealer, and asked him to buy it."

Better In Canada

Canadian Dollar Buys More Than Dollar In United States

The St. Catharines Standard says Washington reports, taking 1941 as a yardstick for the dollar at 100 cents, that the value of the American dollar has shrunk to a current 69 cents. This is arrived at from the cost of living index.

Goods scarcity, housing shortage and abnormally high rentals, high prices of staple food commodities, are all factors in the inflationary trend. The assumption is that after the first flurry, following decontrol, in the United States, the decline in the value of the dollar will halt.

The question mark is: What is the Canadian dollar worth as compared to 1939? That its value has gone down somewhat, that a dollar worth go nearly as far now as a few years ago is obvious. But when Canadian and American prices are compared for such things as butter, meat, even milk, and many other essentials, it is certain that the Canadian position is more favorable on the whole for the average consumer. This is only possible by retention of certain controls and also by the system of subsidies, which is still in force for a considerable number of commodities, including household coal, as one example.

Board of Public Utility

at $18.00 per ton, grain at $26.50 per ton and wages and board for 2 hired men at $105.00 per month. This discloses a price received of $3.43 and a cost of production not including depreciation or wages for the producer or his family of $3.33. These figures for income and expenditures are approximately the same as those for the period May, 1944, to May, 1945, submitted by the witnesses at the hearing in June, 1945. It would appear that notwithstanding the increase in the producers price awarded in June, 1945, that this producer did not increase his production to any extent.

In other controlled areas in the Province, the Board has had the advantage of the results of an independent cost survey carried out by the Provincial Department of Agriculture in collaboration with the Dominion Economics Division at the University of Alberta. This extensive survey discloses a cost of production at $1st of May, 1946, of $2.03 per 100 pounds. This figure includes wages for the owner of the farm, interest, depreciation and general expenses. It was not indicated to the Board at this hearing that there is any marked difference in the cost of production in the Crows' Nest Pass area and other controlled areas. The cost of hay and other feed paid by the producers giving evidence, while the cost of hauling such feed might be somewhat greater, the wages paid for labour are considerably lower in the area in question. As has been stated in other decisions of the Board, it is impossible to apply fixed standards in the determination of the cost of the production of milk due to varying weather conditions and biological factors, but the Board is not satisfied that it is impossible for producers in the area in question to produce at a cost within 40 cents per 100 pounds of the cost in the other areas in the Province. It should be pointed out that these producers have enjoyed an increase of 39 cents per 100 pounds since July, 1945, not enjoyed in other areas. In addition, these producers, because of the shortage of production receive the top price for their entire production which has given them a rate of 26 cents per 100 pounds over that received by producers in other areas.

There was some discussion at the hearing as to whether the Board should withdraw control in this area allowing it to revert to the conditions which existed prior to 1940. The producers requested that control be continued and stated that this is necessary if any degree of continuity of supply is to be maintained. Under the provisions of the Wartime Prices Regulations, the Board is bound in any event to fix a maximum retail price, and the Board feels that the conditions of supply are such in the area that such supply would be adversely affected if control is not maintained. The total consumption of milk in the area has steadily increased from a high monthly consumption of 63,251 quarts in 1940 to a high monthly consumption of 87,254 quarts in 1946. Total production in the area has increased from the monthly high of 63,251 quarts in 1940 to a high monthly production of 91,107 quarts in 1946. This production, however, has not been sufficient in the fall and winter months to meet the demand and the amount of milk imported by the distributor in these months has increased to a monthly high of 17,825 quarts in the year 1946.

Producers stated at the hearing that they would be content to receive the prices they had been receiving under the last Order of the Board with subsidies. As above stated, the present fixed producers price is $3.02 per 100 pounds. Federal subsidies paid to 30th April, 1946, were at the rates of 55 cents in winter months and 35 cents in summer months which is equivalent to a rate of 47 cents throughout the year. The winter subsidy of 55 cents was continued through the past summer in view of the proposed withdrawal of all subsidies at 30th September, 1946. To compensate producers for the loss of this subsidy without affecting the spread of the distributor would require an increase in the retail price of 1.4 cents per quart. The Board does not consider it practical or possible to increase the retail price by fractions of a cent. As above mentioned, the amount of milk produced in the area is not sufficient to meet consumers demands and the distributor, Pass Dairy Limited, has found it necessary to import considerable quantities of milk from Lethbridge at prices greatly in excess of those paid to producers in the area and this was one of the reasons for which the distributor was given an increased spread of 1 cent per quart in June, 1945. The Board intends to conduct an investigation into the affairs of this distributor to ascertain the effect of this increase and when the result of this investigation is known a different distribution of the consumer price as between distributor and producer will be considered. In the meantime, an increase of 1 cent per quart in the retail price, resulting in a retail price of 15 cents per quart will be ordered, and the proceeds of this increase will be given to producers which would increase the price to them to $3.41 per 100 pounds. The Board feels that the smaller return to producers occasioned by the difference between the last mentioned figures and the price of $3.57 latterly received by them should be shared equally by the distributor and producers and accordingly will order a price to the producers of $3.49. The Board points out to producers that if their production can be increased to an extent which will enable the distributor to cease importing from Lethbridge at high prices that the saving thus affected will be distributed between producers and the distributor upon such basis as the Board may determine to be just. The necessary price orders will be issued effective 15 November, 1946.

THEATRE NOTES

The film "Wilson" playing Cole's Bellevue, on Saturday and Monday is said to be an outstanding film by the management. As a result the Saturday evening show will start at 7 p.m. in Bellevue instead of the usual 7.30. The second show will be at the usual time of 9.30 p.m.

At Blairmore on Tuesday of next week a matinee on the same film "Wilson" will be held in the Orpheum at 4.15 p.m.

At Bellevue on Tuesday there will be a matinee at 4.15 for "The Well Groomed Bride."

DELIGHTFUL COMEDY DUE

Advance reports indicate that there are laughs in abundance in Paramount's new comedy-romance, "The Well Groomed Bride," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday with co-stars Olivia De Havilland, Academy Award winner Ray Milland, and Sonny Tufts.

Expert comedy played by the three stars, and a smooth job by director Sidney Lanfield is said to maintain "The Well Groomed Bride" on a merry note throughout. The hilarious screenplay by Claude Binyon and Robert Russell enables Milland again to demonstrate his versatility by a complete change of pace from his dramatic characterization of an alcoholic in "The Lost Weekend." Ray portrays a dashing Navy lieutenant, who vies with Sonny for Olivia and for possession of the sole remaining two-quart bottle of champagne in San Francisco. Ray has to have it for the launching of a new aircraft carrier; Olivia wants it to celebrate the homecoming, after two years in the Aleutians, of her fiancé, Sonny Tufts. It is a gay plot, with dialogue and situations which promise a briskly paced comedy.

"Sometimes the life of a man mirrors the life of a nation. The destiny of our country was crystallized in the life and times of Washington and Lincoln, and perhaps, too, in the life of another President. This is the story of America and the story of a man—Woodrow Wilson, twenty-eighth President of the United States."

With these words, Darryl F.

Zanuck's "Wilson" is introduced to the screen. A heroic dedication—but no less heroic than the motion picture it introduces. This panoramic Technicolor film marks the culmination of all the talent and genius that have made the motion picture America's favorite entertainment in the brief span of a generation.

In "Wilson," 20th Century-Fox presents the tremendous story of the success and the tragic failure of an American who dared to have faith in a great ideal. It is rich with the warmth and emotion that any real story of a human being must have, and it has an intimacy that only painstaking research and faithful direction could attain. It is a story of history-in-the-making. It is a true story.

S. C. Short Gave

and when they see other parents, other wives embracing their loved ones again, their thoughts must be very bitter. But they are proud that they have been called upon to make such a great contribution, and we hope that they will continue to lift high their hearts, with a strong faith that in God's good time, full recompense will be made to them.

We meet today, to again bend our heads in homage to the memory of those of our Country's sons and daughters, who were not afraid to die, who gave their all that we may live. They did not question overmuch the nature of their duty—they only knew in full that their country stood in danger—that their loved ones, their families might see and feel, the conqueror's heel. They asked for no sympathy, they left us with a smile—they were just doing their duty.

We should thank God that this great quality of duty is so deep seated in the breasts of the sons of this nation and of our Commonwealth, that the hot blood of centuries of free men courses so fiercely through their veins.

I wonder if we fully realize how close we came to having those veins slit across and that blood purged. I wonder if we fully realize how close we came, to having those veins filled with a conception brewed by a master fanatic, an anti-christ—a demon if there ever was one—filled with a conception of servility and defeat. I wonder if we realize how close we came to having the flesh that covers those veins branded. No my friends—this is not just a figment of my imagination—this was done—human flesh branded—branded according to political belief, branded according to racial strain. How close, my friends... how close. Yes, today we owe a great debt of gratitude to those who paid the supreme sacrifice and to those who have returned safely to us.

In contemplating the nature and meaning of sacrifice, one naturally tries to imagine the total cumulative sum of all sacrifice made during the war just passed. It is colossal and defies description. In surveying the whole scope of human misery visited upon peoples of the earth and of the sacrifice necessary to subdue it and return to peaceful times—we begin to wonder—and sometimes are prone to question the benevolence of the Supreme Being Himself we question the Divine Purpose.

If we did not examine carefully the purpose of the freedom of will which has been placed in mankind, we might well end in frustration. We know, however, that mankind has been given a certain quality known as free-will—without this quality life would be dull and anti-like, we know that this great gift entails responsibilities—this free-will of man offers two choices—a force for good or a force for evil. No man ever was all good, at least it is hard to conceive of one, except the Carpenter of Nazareth. Likewise it is hard to conceive of any man being all evil. Good and evil exists within us all in varying degrees one way or the other. How we employ those forces is entirely in our own hands, and it is only by a thorough understanding of these characteristics of the make-up of human nature that we get a glimpse of the Divine Purpose, and refrain from laying the incident of war at the feet of the Supreme Being. Human conduct is a matter of our own making, we have been given the materials, the raw elements with which to mould this character, the result—the end product is our own responsibility. We have been given such raw materials as hatred, prejudice, covetousness, falsehood, selfishness and like qualities which we know inherently to be wrong. On the other hand we have been given such qualities as truth, beauty, unselfishness and love. We know these qualities to be right. We have also been given the supreme quality of the will to sacrifice. This attribute is undoubtedly the overriding quality which keeps all others, both good and evil in balance.

In a study of the anatomy of human nature (if you will) most of the qualities we have been speaking of can stand severe enquiry, they are relative, truth to one person would not necessarily be truth to another, likewise with beauty, an unselfish act done by one person, might be considered as very selfish to another person from a different point of view. I mention this to bring out the fact that all these attributes of human conduct are forever running against each other and keep the whole world in a state of unrest.

Sacrifice on the other hand is not relative, it is absolute, it is the highest expression of love, it is the fly wheel the counter balance in the collective force of all human emotions, you will always find the spirit of sacrifice on guard.

The moral of this, I think, is obvious, the cause of wars is inherent within man himself, and so long as mankind lives without the social machinery to encompass man's desires and channel them to the end that—good for all will result—then sooner or later a price has to be paid.

On this memorable day, we cannot help but look back and scan briefly the arduous years through which we have passed. We in Canada should be particularly thankful that we knew none of the ravages of war. We saw our sons and daughters march proudly away. We watched with great pride their exploits abroad. We tried to visualize our sailors in their nightly vigil on the icy waters of the North Atlantic, we followed our soldiers in the hard fought advance up the tortuous roads of Italy. We waited with bated breath as they plunged ashore to the unfriendly ground that was Normandy, and prayerfully watched them as they stood firm footed at Falaise and Caen.

We tried to think the thoughts our Airmen thought as they nightly lifted their planes and flew eastward into the darkness of the German sky. Time does not permit us to recount their many exploits, nor do they wish it. These are experiences which they alone know, these are their secrets—to try to pry into them is futile—we can only guess. All we can say is "Well done fellows," well done girls, we are proud of you, and to those of your comrades who did not return—let us always remember our old pledge

That in the morning and at the setting of the sun We will remember them.

In looking back on the war years, we cannot help but have some thought for the common people who have made so many sacrifices and I think particularly of the people of England and of the United Kingdom; the civilian, old men and women, boys and girls, of whom it was said "Sang underground to break your heart." I have not the exact figures, but the number of these people who were killed ran over 50,000, and the maimed and wounded ran into many thousands more than this number. One house in every three was demolished by enemy action, and their fight for existence is not yet over and will not be for many years.

The history of these people in their hour of trial has been recorded in imperishable literature, and it is always an inspiration to read it. It is high lighted by gems which shall live forever and remind men of many generations to guard their liberties and freedom well, because they were won and preserved at so great a price. It is the literature of a people in anguish, a symphony of sorrow played against a background of falling bombs. A stirring message to peoples of all lands, to hate faith in God, and to reject the new philosophy which came out of the beer cellars of Germany—a philosophy based on the concept that "Might is Right." This literature was the greatest armour these people of the old land had for the first years of the war.

You will remember on that fateful day Sept 3rd, 1939—when war was declared, that greatest of all statements said "Outside the storm may blow, and the land may be lashed with the fury of its gales, but in our hearts this, Sunday morning there is peace," and a little later on in his great message to the people "All I can offer is Blood, Sweat, Toil and Tears." You will remember how he rallied his people with that famous message "Let us to the Task, to the Battle and to the Toll," and then again his fighting message to the people of the United States "We shall not flag or fail, we shall go on to the end, we shall defend our Island whatever the cost may be."

Some of you will remember getting up early on Christmas morning, 1940, to hear the King's message—it was at a time when Britain and the Empire was all alone, and hope was at its lowest ebb—"I stood at the gate of the night and I asked a stranger for a light that I might go out into the darkness, and he said "Put your hand into the hand of God, that is better than a light and a Known way."

My friends, we are thankful for the great leadership our nation had during the war. I do not wish to tire you with recitations but it is a day of remembrance on which all those who suffered and sacrificed their lives should be remembered and honored. How they rallied to that leadership is now inscribed in the annals of time by countless deeds of heroism, but I would like to give a tribute to those little people of whom we spoke, in the words of one who lived with them—

"No abby walls have space to record the deeds of these simple ones, gone sadly or gallantly to eternity. Their names shall not be graven on stone nor painted on glass; no Roll of Honor could set them forth. But the just of England the winds that whisper in her trees, the waves that beat upon her shores, shall vibrate with the passion of their courage, the splendor of their sacrifice. Each dawn shall tell how they arose in humble cheerfulness to light their corner of the earth with a candle of faith, each sunset shall be a flaming beacon to remind all men of their burning steadfastness."

And to our noble warriors who have gone to their last rest, and we think particularly of those Coleman lads whose names will be called from The Roll of Honor let us say with humble hearts:

"Sleep well, heroic souls, in silence sleep, Capped in the circling arms of kindly death

No ill can vex your slumbers, No foul breath of slander, hate, derision, Mar the deep repose."

That holds you close." A hymn was sung by the choir "Sleep, Comrade, Sleep."

The flag service was led by Maurice Drew, there being ten flags used in the ceremony. Each flag was carried from the rear of the hall to the front by individual standard bearers.

James Lowe, bugler, played The Last Post, followed by two minutes silence and then played "Reveille." A wreath was then placed in front of the roll of honor. Following the roll call by Maurice Drew of those who fell in war I and war II the pipe band came on the stage and played a lament "The Flowers of the Forest."

A hymn "The Church's One Foundation" was sung followed by benediction. The service closed with "God Save The King."

MILK ENQUIRY WELL PUBLICIZED

The Journal covered the milk enquiry held in the court house, Blairmore, last Oct. 22, and gave a fairly complete report. The Macleod Gazette, located in an agricultural area, used some of the figures as a basis for an editorial. The Gazette then fell into the hands of R. J. Deachman, editor of the column "My Week" which is distributed from coast to coast. Mr. Deachman thought the item of sufficient importance that he devoted a full page to it again quoting from figures first recorded in The Journal. Truly the enquiry was given maximum publicity.

T.B. QUESTIONS
ANSWERED BY THE
ALBERTA TUBERCULOSIS
ASSOCIATION
EDITED BY F. H. HEISE, M.D.
National Tuberculosis Assn.

Two hundred and thirty thousand Albertans have been given free chest X-ray by the Mobile Units that were bought with Christmas Seal donations.

The 51st anniversary of the discovery of the X-ray is being observed this year. The X-ray was discovered by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, Nov. 8, 1895. It is now universally used in the diagnosis of tuberculosis.

Due to modern improvements in equipment, experienced technicians can take 160 or more X-ray pictures in an hour. Miniature 35 mm., 70 mm., and 4 by 5 inch films are usually used in X raying large groups.

Of every thousand apparently healthy people, about two will be found to have tuberculosis, if examined by X-ray.

Christmas Seals form the only source of revenue of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

Q. Does reading or writing to any extent retard improvement?
A. Both must be regarded as physical exercise and should be indulged in only with the consent or advice of the doctor. Usually when done in moderation they are not injurious unless marked activity of the disease is present.

"I'd like 11,506,651* others to hear this"

"No post mortem!" warned Ida, glancing at Ruth. "The game's over. Besides, your husband looks as though he has something on his mind."

"I sure have," said Bill. "Only I'd like the other 11,506,651 Canadians to hear this too. Today I got hold of some figures that made me proud of the business I'm in. We Canadians now own more than 10 billion dollars worth of life insurance. And payments? During 1945 alone, the companies paid out about 66½ million dollars to widows, children and other beneficiaries. And another 95 million dollars was paid to living policyholders through matured endowments, dividends, disability claims, annuities and cash surrender values. That's what life insurance is doing for us Canadians."

"These life insurance benefits helped to pay off mortgages on homes, start youngsters off to college, settle older people into comfortable retirement. Countless families have thanked their stars for life insurance in time of need. Many, many others who are now building future security through their policies will be glad of it. But I want every living Canadian to realize the importance of Life Insurance."

Every life insurance dollar, while waiting to be paid out to its claimant, is working and growing in the service of the public, creating more jobs and more goods for more Canadians. Of that dollar about 57 cents is now invested in Government bonds, 5 cents is laboring for municipalities, 20 cents is building industries and public utilities from coast to coast, 8 cents is in farm and urban mortgages, another 5 cents is on loan to policyholders, 1½ cents is represented by real estate and 3½ cents is in cash and miscellaneous assets.

Life insurance not only grows in the scope of its protection, year after year, but is continually being employed for socially desirable purposes.

A message from the Life Insurance Companies in Canada and their agents.

Mrs. Raymond B. Dunlop Passes At Vancouver

Married in Coleman in 1940; Rev. H. J. Bevan Conducted Funeral Services.

Death came two weeks ago to Mrs. Raymond B. Dunlop at Vancouver. Rev. H. J. Bevan of Trinity United church conducted the service in the Roselawn Funeral Home and later at the Forest Lawn Cemetery where interment took place.

Due to a lengthy illness Mrs. Dunlop's two sisters were able to be with her for the last few days and to be present at the funeral. A brother, just arrived from overseas, had also visited her recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop were married in Coleman in 1940 and resided here for some time before moving to Vancouver.

Mr. Dunlop is the eldest son of Mrs. Hugh Dunlop of Sixth street and is quite well known in Coleman.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was held in the IOOF hall on Wednesday, Oct. 30, to honor Mrs. T. Anderson, nee Mary Morrison.

Whist and bingo were played. Whist honors were won by Mrs. E. Koestelink and Mrs. J. Kubin. Bingo prizes were won by Miss Eleanor Prowski and Miss Jennie Cieslak.

Following a dainty lunch served by hostesses Mesdames W. H. Garner, R. Parry, A. Chalmers, J. Sanuychan, G. Knowles, J. Melusi and the Misses Della Churia and Katie Kobewka the honored guest was presented with a basket of lovely gifts for which she thanked the sixty guests present.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to those who attended the miscellaneous shower held in my honor and brought gifts, and also to those who, though failing to be present, sent their gifts. I especially thank hostesses Mesdames R. Parry, W. H. Garner, J. Melusi, A. Chalmers, G. Knowles, J. Sanuychan and to the Misses Kate Kobewka and Della Churia for their efforts in my behalf.

Mary Morrison.

INCREASED SEPTEMBER CONTRIBUTIONS TO UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE FUND

Employer-employee contributions to the Unemployment Insurance Fund made in September, amounting to $5,994,253.84, were the highest for any September to date, according to the statement for that month just released by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The latest figures show an increase of $1,011,620.90 in the monthly sum received by the fund, over the corresponding month of last year, and of $453,875.70 over the average of the previous eight months.

By reason of the adoption of a new policy of closing expenditure figures at the end of the month instead of on the 20th of the month as formerly (which resulted in an extra ten days' benefit payments being reported for September) benefit payments in September amounted to $2,398,101.44, compared with $2,858,005.66 in the previous month.

Also paid into the Fund in September were the sums of $1,198,850.77 contributed by the Dominion Government and $600,058.54 from the interest on investments and profit on sale of securities. The net increase of the fund in September was $4,395,061.71, bringing the balance at September 30th to $337,819,234.70.

Under the Unemployment Insurance Act, the Canadian government pays all the costs of administering unemployment insurance and the National Employment Service, in addition to its share of contributions to the fund. This means that no expenses incurred in the management of unemployment insurance are charged to the fund.

Q. How much exercise do you consider advisable for an apparently arrested case?

A. This is dependent upon the extent and character of the disease at the beginning, the general condition of the patient and many other varying conditions, including the nature of the exercise and the environment in which it is taken. The attending physician alone should decide.

HAVE YOU ANY RUPEES IN YOUR PURSE?

Mrs. Blair has been talking for months about buying a real Indian shawl. But wouldn't she be surprised if she found it priced in rupees! That it isn't, is due in large measure to the services rendered by your bank.

When you buy imported goods in Canadian stores, you pay in Canadian dollars—but the people who made them were paid in Indian rupees, British pounds, French francs...

It is the same in reverse with exports. You may be one of the three out of every eight Canadians who make their living through goods sold abroad. If so, you receive your wages in dollars, but your products are sold in all sorts of foreign currencies.

Arranging the complicated exchange and transfer of foreign funds in such transactions is but one of your bank's many services enabling Canadians to buy and sell abroad.

TRADE MINISTER REPORTS CANADA'S EXPORT SUPPLY CONDITIONS AS ENCOURAGING

ST CATHARINES, Ont.—Trade Minister MacKinnon, in an address prepared for delivery here, said the "outlook as regards export supply conditions may well be described as one of encouragement."

"In a detailed appraisal of Canada's ability to meet the abnormal demands of a post-war world, he maintained that 'the main body of Canadian export industry has been going about its business in a way that leaves little room for misgiving or serious criticism.'"

However, industries which provided possibly one-third of her export totals, dominated by iron and steel, had fallen upon periods of slowdowns because of stoppages, lack of skilled labor and other reasons which "came at a time that was singularly unfortunate."

He dealt in detail with Canada's reaction to "the unique opportunity we have to restore and extend our export commerce."

In wheat, the prairies were finishing off an above-average crop, but only a phenomenal crop could have met world demands that will call for every bushel of wheat and every barrel of flour between now and the 1947 harvest.

He cited the "magnificent" war record of western farmers as a defence that could be extended to many other industries unable to take full advantage of world demands through no fault of their own.

Newsprint, the current giant of Canadian export, was being turned out at 99 per cent. of capacity but was unable to meet demands and would be in the same predicament next year. This situation extended to the whole broad field of the pulp and paper industry. The lumber industry was producing at the highest rate in 40 years but was below demand.

As the world's chief exporter of base metals, Canada was "easy" in the nickel and aluminum metal fields. But large volumes of copper, lead and zinc had failed to end a world shortage.

Aged Pensioners May Get Cost Of Living Bonus

OTTAWA.—The Dominion government, it was learned here from authoritative sources, is favorably considering adding a cost of living bonus to its monthly payments to the provinces for old age pensions which would raise the pensions by approximately $5 a month, providing the provinces pay a share of the increase.

Under the present federal statute, the Dominion government pays 75 per cent. of old age pensions for persons 70 years of age or over up to $25 per month.

All the provinces pay such old age pensions up to the $25 a month figure but some of them also add supplemental amounts.

Saskatchewan pays $28 a month, adding a flat $3 per month to the $25 maximum of which the federal government pays 75 per cent.

RECEIVE AWARDS

Fourteen R.C.A.F. Officers Given Decorations At Investiture In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG.—Thirteen officers and one non-commissioned officer of the Royal Canadian Air Force received decorations from Lt.-Gov. R. F. McWilliams of Manitoba at an investiture at No. 2 Air Command R.C.A.F., here.

The decorations included the George Medal, Distinguished Flying Cross, Member of the British Empire, British Empire medal and the Croix de Guerre.

The George medal was awarded to Flt. G. C. Abel of Melville, Sask., who returned to a burning aircraft to free a crew member who had been caught in the turret. Wing Cmdr. J. K. F. MacDonald of Antigonish, N.S., Flt. Lt. W. McFaul of Moose Jaw, Sask., and FO. D. R. Penny of Abernethy, Sask. were among those receiving D.F.C.s.

FOR OBSERVATION

CHICAGO.—Four white Angora goats, survivors of the Bikini atomic bomb tests last July, have been moved again. The goats, three males and a female, were put aboard a freight train for Washington, D.C., where navy technicians will continue to observe effects of atomic radiations on the animals.

USING RED ENSIGN

HALIFAX.—The Canadian red ensign has replaced the union jack atop the federal building in Halifax. The change made was in accordance with instructions from Ottawa that as "jacks" became too worn for further use, they were to be replaced by the red ensign until selection of the new Canadian flag.

HEAVY SNOWFALL

Denver, Colorado, Experiences Worst Fall In 33 Years

DENVER.—Denver dug themselves out last week from under a 26-inch snowfall, the city's worst in 33 years, and attempted to get vital services operating even before the snow stopped falling.

Schools were closed, the state capitol was shut down and city council called off a scheduled meeting.

Emergency snow removal crews worked on the city's streets, where thousands of automobiles and delivery trucks were stalled. Funeral services were called off. Garbage disposal was stalled.

Transportation from the south—where the storm struck almost as hard as in Denver—was almost at a standstill.

HAD THEIR CHOICE

German Scientists Went To Britain Willingly And Not Under Compulsion

LONDON.—Sixty-three German scientists and technicians have been brought to Britain for employment since the occupation of their country. John B. Hynd, minister responsible for administration of the British zone, said in the house of commons. None came under compulsion, he added.

Another 60 are expected shortly under the same "freely contracted arrangements", Mr. Hynd said.

ROYAL COMMISSION TO PROBE BRITISH PRESS—British newspapers call the government investigation of the British press, ordered by parliament after a bitter debate, "sinister" and "intolerable." Lord Kemsley, seen with Lady Kemsley, owns more than 20 newspapers, is blamed for "monopolistic" tendencies by inquiry supporters.

INVEST IN CANADA

British Investments Now Total $1,500,000,000

LONDON.—Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons he estimates that British investments in Canada totalled $1,500,000,000 and that Canadian investments in the United Kingdom totalled $150,000,000.

He was answering Sir Patrick Hannon, Conservative member for Moseley.

Mr. Dalton said he would not give the volume of Canadian investments in the United States before the war as a factor at the end of the war.

TAKES PEACE STAND

People Of World Are Against War Says Marshal Tito

BELGRADE.—Marshal Tito told a rain-soaked crowd estimated at 300,000 that he is certain there will be no war "because the people of the world don't want war."

"We want relations to be better, especially with America," he asserted, but contended that the impounding of Yugoslav boats on the upper Danube by United States authorities was an unfriendly action.

Marshal Tito attacked Winston Churchill as a man with a "heart of stone" and the leader of all "reaction" in the world.

Pandit Nehru Speaks To Tribal Leaders Of Troubled India

Emphasizing a point, Pandit Nehru gestures as he talks with tribal leaders of the Northwest Frontier province during meetings with chieftains. In Calcutta rioting, police opened fire on a group who were attacking Indian soldiers with knives. Six persons were removed to hospital suffering from acid burns in another clash.

Royalty Guests As Mountbatten's Daughter Weds Baron

Thousands witnessed wedding of Hon. Patricia Mountbatten and Lord Brabourne. Bridesmaids were her sister, Pamela, Princess Alexandra of Kent, Princess Margaret Rose, and Princess Elizabeth. Wedding reception was held at Broadlands, the Mountbatten home, where this family group was photographed. In back row, from left, are the Duchesses of Kent, Viscount Mountbatten of Burma, the bridegroom, King George, Lady Mountbatten and C. Harris-St. John, the best man. Also Queen Elizabeth, the bride and four bridesmaids.

DOMINIONS ARE URGED TO PLAY FULL ROLE TOWARDS MAINTAINING WORLD PEACE

BUTTER DECLINE

Statistic Figures Show Stocks Lower Than Last Year

OTTAWA.—Creamery butter stocks in nine principal Canadian cities at Nov. 1 totalled 41,879,858 pounds, compared with 43,967,296 pounds at Oct. 1 and 43,387,014 at Nov. 1, 1945, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

Sources close to the ration administration said it still was too early to determine whether Canada could get through the winter without a cut in her current butter ration of six ounces per person per week.

They agreed the supply situation was "touch and go" but said that if there was a reduction it would be small.

They noted also that while stocks were lower this year than a year ago the current ration—at six ounces—was two ounces lower than the allotment of eight ounces a year ago.

FUELWOOD PRICES

Prices Board Warns Buyers Of Black Market Activities

OTTAWA.—The prices board, moving to stamp out black market activities in fuelwood, Tuesday night in a statement warned all buyers to check fuelwood prices at the board's nearest office before making purchases.

The statement said that because many consumers are unfamiliar with price regulations "they have been unfortunate victims of unscrupulous sellers who have taken advantage of their position."

It said all types of fuelwood still are under price ceilings and all licensed dealers have up-to-date schedules listing prices on all varieties of wood. Those schedules should be posted prominently in their business places.

CITRUS AREAS DAMAGED

LOS ANGELES.—Sub-freezing temperatures came to southern California citrus areas on the heels of a 65-mile-an-hour gale which raked the sometimes sunny southland causing damage running into thousands of dollars. Ranchers said the winds blew some fruit to the ground, scarred others. Planes were damaged at several airports; a dozen cabin cruisers were sunk at their moorings or tossed ashore at beaches.

NETHERLANDS ASKING GERMAN TERRITORY TO COMPENSATE DAMAGE INFLICTED BY WAR

WASHINGTON.—The Netherlands asked the Big Four powers to hand over 700 square miles of German territory to compensate Holland for damage inflicted on its economy by the Germans.

The Netherlands ambassador, Alexander Loudon, delivered the note containing the request in a call on the under-secretary of state, Dean Acheson. Similar notes were delivered simultaneously in London, Moscow and Paris.

None of the larger German cities in the border area would be annexed. The new frontier roughly would run slightly west of all those cities.

Mr. Loudon told reporters after delivering the note that the Dutch would permit all of the 118,000 Germans involved, except those convicted of being Nazis, to remain in the area after the transfer.

He asserted there would be "no real problem" about minorities because the residents of the area are principally farm folk and are not concentrated. That was the reason, he added, that the Dutch declined to claim any of the cities.

In addition to the border changes, the Dutch asked the Big Four powers for:

1. A number of German mining concessions, mainly on the left bank of the Rhine river, for a period of 40 to 50 years;

2. Guarantees against any future renewal of the German preferential charges on rail, road, and water transportation, "to the detriment of Netherlands ports;"

3. Prohibitions on the construction of new canals which would tend to divert Rhine river traffic into "other than its natural channels;"

4. Guarantees against renewed German monetary measures—such as those pursued by Hitler's government—which are detrimental to the Dutch economy.

TICKET STILL GOOD

NEW YORK.—An elderly woman handed a New Haven railroad conductor a ticket on boarding a train at New Rochelle, N.Y., and offered the explanation that "I didn't buy it today." The conductor agreed. It was dated September, 1898. He honored the ticket, however, because at the time of the purchase there were no time limits for its usage.

COPPER NEEDED

LONDON.—Approximately 100 tons of copper will be required for campaign stars now being struck at the Royal Mint and Woolwich Arsenal at the rate of 15,000 a day.
